

2. Correct. The answer is false. Private markets as well as governments allocate goods, services, and resources.