

1. Correct. The answer is true. The US Federal government gets the most revenue from the individual income tax (about 70%), US states get the most revenue from general sales taxes (about 1/3), while US local governments get the most revenue from property taxes (about 3/4).