

5. Incorrect. The answer is false not true. North America is the most electricity intensive area of the world and Africa is the least electricity intensive.