

6. Correct. The answer is false. The Middle and Far East developing countries have the fastest growing electricity demand.