

15. Correct. The answer is true. In a decreasing cost industry, the largest producer is the cheapest and will be able to drive smaller producers out of business. Therefore we think that such an industry is a natural monopoly which should be government owned or regulated.