

34. Correct. The answer is false. The increase in demand caused an increase in exploration and development. What was expected to be a world wide oil shortage turned into an over supply and plunging oil prices