

9. Correct. The answer is false. Under Natural Gas Act of 1938, interstate pipelines long term contracts were 20 years or more. This is much longer than what is typical in non-regulated industries of similar capital intensities, where long term contracts have been more on the order of 5 years.