

20. Correct. The answer is true. Pipelines companies and private carriers operated with gas producers and distribution companies under long-term contracts, which were 20 years and more.