

22. Correct. The answer is true. The Supreme Court expanded the FPC jurisdiction mandating that all producer of gas for resale in the interstate market to be regulated (Phillips Petroleum v. Wisconsin - 1954). This extensive intrusion of regulation altered market economic allocations with low regulated prices leading to shortages in the interstate market.