

24. Correct. The answer is false. IT has actually increased the market efficiency as it has contributed to the timely distribution of information among all stakeholders.