

26. Correct. The answer is false. This should not necessarily be the case as other factors contribute to profitability such as production costs, management style, and innovation.