

29. Correct. The answer is true. Compared with crude oil, natural gas trade is concentrated within regions close to where the gas is produced due to higher transportation costs.