

33. Incorrect. The answer is true not false. Distributive games are ones where the negotiation is over how payments are distributed between the players.