

7. Correct. The answer is false. The European Economic Community (EEC) was created earlier, in 1957, and addressed issues of economic integration; while the European Union (EU), created in 1992, calls for more economic and political interdependence and now has a common monetary system