

16. Correct. The answer is false not true. In the Cournot model, each firm's profits are maximized holding the other firm's output constant. The Cournot model is solved by taking the first derivative of the profit function of both firms and setting them equal to zero (first order condition). We can then solve for $q(1)$, $q(2)$ and finally the price.