

31. Correct. The answer is false. As fossil fuels are depleted, we expect to move on to higher cost renewable fuels, which are often called backstop fuels.