

5. Correct. The answer is true. The CERES principles, sometimes called Valdez principles because they originated after the Exxon Valdez accident in 1989, are followed by corporations that aim to conduct business in an environmentally conscious manner.