

13. Incorrect. The answer is true not false. A method of marketable permits encourages polluters who can attain low abatement costs to pollute less than polluters whose abatement costs are very high.