

12. Incorrect. The answer is false not true. Basic nuclear fuel (known as UO_2) is made only of uranium and oxygen, whereas MOX fuel contains a small proportion of plutonium oxides with the uranium oxides. Typically, the plutonium content ranges from 3% to 10%.