

13. Correct. The answer is true. Canada, the U.S., Brazil, China, and Russia in order of capacity are the largest producers of electricity from hydropower, with over a half of total world capacity (source <http://www.worldenergy.org/wec-geis/>)