

21. Correct. The answer is true. Norway consumes more than 10 toe per capita, whereas the European average is about 3.6. The FSU average is about the same as the European average but Russia and Turkmenistan are about a third higher. The African average is 0.7 toe while the majority of African RR countries consume more per capita.

The following questions relate to more advanced material that is covered in <http://dahl.mines.edu/b2101.pdf>. See this file for model assumptions and proofs of the results.